DISSOLUTION ORDER SIGNED FOR GAS FIRM

Dissolution of the Gettysburg Gas corporation, after an existence that goes back to Civil War days, was approved by the Adams county court this morning.

With the signing of the decree of dissolution, effective December 31, the court made the Gettysburg Gas corporation legally what it has been in actual practice for years, part of the Manufacturers Light and Heat Company of Pittsburgh, which in turn is a subsidiary of the Columbia Gas System, Inc.

Papers presented before the court this morning by Attorney Albert M. Calland showed that all of the 780 shares of stock in the Gettysburg Gas corporation are owned by the Manufacturers Light and Heat company and that the stockholders had moved for the dissolution, with the Manufacturers company taking over all assets and liabilities of the concern which serves some 5,000 customers in Adams county.

Divorce Granted
The procedure will make no difference in service, local officers and the like, Calland pointed out, stating that the dissolution proceeding merely does away with one corporation which had existed only on paper since management and ownership were identical with the Manufacturers Light and Heat company.

Calland said that the local commission (Please Turn To Page 8)

'REC' DANCE AT ANNEX ON FRIDAY

Gettysburg's young people will have an opportunity to welcome the New Year at their own dance in the Hotel Gettysburg annex Friday night, the Gettysburg Recreation association announced today.

Dancing at the annex will be conducted by the association from 9 o'clock Friday evening to 12:15 o'clock Saturday morning, with Le-Van's Rhythm Masters, a seven-piece orchestra, providing the music.

The association announced that a ladies' choice dance will be held during the course of the evening to permit the girls their last opportunity to take advantage of the leap year which ends at midnight Friday. Paul Jones dances will also be featured.

Present plans call for paper caps, balloons and similar novelties to be distributed among the dancers to aid in the traditional activities for New Year's eve.

HIGHWAY CINDER CREWS BUSY AS ICE COATS ROADS

State highway department cinder-trucks were called out at 4 a. m. today as freezing rain glazed highways in the mountainous sections of the county and coated bridge roadways with ice in many parts of the county.

Superintendent J. William Kenedy, Jr., said the cinder crews continued work until about 10 o'clock today when rising temperatures and more rain helped turn the ice to slush.

Freezing rain hit many sections of Pennsylvania today, icing highways and snarling traffic, the Associated Press said.

Transportation facilities were hampered at various points. Numerous highway crashes included a three-truck collision near Norris-town which killed two drivers.

Urges Extreme Caution
The state highways department urged all motorists today to drive with "extreme caution" because of icy conditions of roads.

The department said light freezing rains have created icy spots throughout the state, particularly in elevated areas. Cinder crews went to work in all sections.

Residents of the Hazleton section skidded on sleet covered highways and streets. Hazardous driving conditions disrupted bus schedules and stalled cars and trucks on routes entering the city. Numerous traffic tie-ups (Please Turn To Page 8)

'Rec' Association Sign Is Damaged

The local Recreation association today noted that someone is cutting down on the money that can be expended for recreational activities during the year.

The person who caused the cut in purchases of equipment and the like is the one who put his foot four times through the sign outside the recreation center in the First National bank building. The sign will have to be repaired, and the association pointed out, that amount will have to come out of the money intended for recreational activity or equipment.

POSTAL RATES IN MANY CASES ARE INCREASED

Adams countians will find it more expensive to do business with the postal service after January 1.

The thousands who sent out tens of thousands of Christmas cards this year with one and one-half cent stamps affixed did so for the last time. Postmaster Lawrence E. Oylor announced today.

In announcing new rates for postal service, the local postmaster said the increases were made to help defray the increased operating costs of the nation's post office business.

Beginning January 1, the postmaster pointed out, all third class mail will be sent at a rate of two cents for the first ounce and one cent for each additional ounce. That means the penny postcard is now a two cent article—a one hundred per cent increase. A study of the postal service last year showed that it costs 2½ cents to deliver a one cent postcard so the customer and the government will now share the deficit in the new two cent rate.

Other Increases

Postmaster Oylor pointed out that the New Year will see many other increases in postal service fees. Air mail letters will cost six cents an ounce instead of five. However a new air mail post card costing four cents will be available starting next year.

Those who have permits to mail third class matter in bulk lots under Section 562 of the postal laws and regulations will also have to report by the first of the year and deposit $10 each to retain their permits. Previously those holding the permits paid $10 and then forgot about it, so long as they made one mailing per year under the permit. Now, regardless of whether the matter is mailed without stamps affixed, as metered or non-metered mail, or if the postage is paid by precanceled stamps affixed, the customer holding the permit has to pay $10 on or before January 1.

Some Rates Unchanged

Special delivery prices have taken jumps in several pound categories. First class matter weighing up to two pounds, formerly sent for 13 cents, will now cost 15 cents. The old rate of 17 cents for mail weighing between two and ten pounds has been increased to 25 cents. Mail (Please Turn To Page 8)

DAIRYMEN AT MEETING HERE

Twenty-five owners of dairy cattle herds in Adams county gathered Tuesday evening at the court house to discuss ways and means of preventing Bang's disease.

Edgar W. Weaver, president of the county Holstein Breeders' Association, which sponsored the session, presided at the meeting. Dr. James Martin, local veterinarian, and William Rider, field agent for the state Holstein Breeders' association, were the speakers.

A number of plans by which owners of dairy herds can cooperate with the state Bureau of Animal Industry in fighting Bang's disease were outlined by Doctor Martin and Rider spoke on services provided by the state association.

Dr. Martin outlined a program whereby all cattle in herds are blood tested at least once a year and all of the animals that show signs of Bang's disease are slaughtered. All calves are vaccinated between the ages of four and eight months against the disease. Another plan calls for isolation of animals showing traces of the disease.

Bang's disease is particularly serious, the farmers were told, because not only does it injure the animal and make it useless as a breeder, but also because humans contract undulant fever from drinking the raw milk of infected animals or by merely being around the animals.

CHINA LEADERS GATHER TODAY TO LAY PLANS

By HAROLD K. MILKS

Nanking, Dec. 29 (AP)—From all corners of China today came Nationalist military leaders to talk with Chiang Kai-shek about plans for war or peace.

The aging president, urged by many to quit, called the conference. It probably will start tomorrow. On its decision may rest the future of Nationalist China, beset on the north by conquering Communists.

Even as the warlords, generals and leaders arrived in Nanking, a government source revealed that a Red underground organization was hard at work only two miles from the capital.

No Chance North of Yangtze

A hint that Chiang, or his Nationalist leaders under a new chief, would carry on the fight came late in the day. Gen. Chen Cheng, former army chief of staff, was appointed governor of Formosa by the Executive Yuan (council).

His appointment, plus the fact the navy and air force have moved some of their headquarters units to the big island might presage flight of Chiang's government there if Nanking is attacked.

North of the Yangtze it appeared almost all was over for Chiang's men. A few pockets held out, notably in Peking and Tientsin, and Gen. Tu Li-ming's Red-surrounded force 50 miles south of Suchow. None seemed to have any chance of getting out.

Rumors of Peace

Best available sources here said the group attending the policy-making conference would include Gen. Pu Tso-yi, whose military reputation faded fast when his armies were trapped in Tientsin and Peking. Pu was not on the original list of army commanders invited to the conference but he was reported en route by plane from Peking.

One report said T. V. Soong, brother-in-law of Chiang and the only civilian governor left in Nationalist China, was flying here from Canton to join the conference.

Nanking was filled with rumors of peace. One source described the forthcoming meeting as a "roll call" of those National leaders who still retain personal followings either military or civil in order to determine the feasibility of continuing the war with the Communists.

RENO IS SHAKEN BY NEW QUAKE

Reno, Nev., Dec. 29 (AP)—Quake-conscious Reno, shaken by a series of seven earthquakes Monday night, got another rattling this morning.

The quake today was reported at 4:55 a. m., PST, (7:55 a. m., EST) and rattled windows and dishes in a wide section of town.

The quake, preceded by a definite rumble and followed by a minor trembling, was of but a few seconds—five to 10—duration, but apparently spread through the Sierra Nevada into a large section of northern California's Sacramento valley.

Marysville, almost due west of Reno, and approximately 80 miles away, felt the quake at the same time. Police reported hundreds were awakened by the tremor and that some windows were broken both in the downtown and residential Marysville areas.

Marysville was the only spot reporting any damage, although the tremors were felt as far south as Stockton, at the northern end of the San Joaquin valley and 75 miles south of Marysville.

Police reported the shocks were distinctly felt at the Sacramento police station, although not severe enough to cause damage.

FORESEES END OF HIGH PAY FOR GRIDDERS

Philadelphia, Dec. 29 (P)—The financial future of professional football's lesser lights is likely to be pretty gloomy, General Manager Charley Ewart of the Philadelphia Eagles predicted today.

Ewart said the name players in the National Football league—such as the Eagles' Steve Van Buren, Tommy Thompson and Pete Pihos—will continue to get fat contracts in 1944 but that the substitutes and rookies will find the trend away from the big money next season.

"I think the top players should get every cent they're worth," Ewart asserted. "And I personally hope we'll always be able to pay them top salaries."

But the unmistakable trend is downward, Ewart said adding that means "our teams, and those in the All-America conference, I guess, won't be shelling out fat contracts to suds any more."

Two Choices
Ewart, who doubles as backfield coach of the NFL Champions, explained that the pro football club owners in trying to devise ways of cutting down expenses have hit on two ways to save money.

These are, he said:
1. To reduce the player limit per club from 35 to 32.
2. To slash the salaries of the second and third stringers or cut them loose.

Ewart said that cutting the player limit would save each club in the league about $20,000 a year.

"As for the suds," Ewart said, "we can afford to stop paying a lot of cabbage to the veterans who have outlived their usefulness or to the highly touted college men who fail to produce."

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Dec. 29 (P)—By a roundabout route from Texas comes a belated horse laugh over Southern Methodist's request to take its football team on a pleasure trip after the Cotton Bowl. . . . The story was that it was to give the Mustangs the same reward as the Alabamians who accepted more distant bowl bids. . . . "You'd think the SMU team was made up of 44 prisoners of war who hadn't been out from behind barbed wire in years," writes one correspondent. He then adds that SMU visited Pittsburgh, Fayetteville, Ark.; Columbia, Mo., and a couple of Texas cities this year and went to California in 1947. . . . Still they're stay-at-homes compared to almost any basketball squad you can name.

SHORTS AND SHELLS

Pell Mel Patton, the California sprint flash, is busy managing the boys' department in a Los Angeles department store and won't do any running during the indoor season. . . . The University of Miami will be sponsor of this winter's polo games in the Orange Bowl, but there also will be plenty of high-goal players on display. . . . Missouri has played in three different football "bowl" games and never has won; Texas and Georgia, which meet each other, have been in nine bowl tussles and neither has ever been defeated. . . . James Garner of Amarillo, one of the best schoolboy footballers in Texas this year, confounded college talent scouts by saying he won't play college football. Jim is a fine tennis prospect, too, and wants to stick with that game.

CLEANING THE CUFF

Bucky Walters won't listen to offers to trade for Cincinnati pitchers because he claims that was the club's weakest position last season. That's what we'd call drawing a fine distinction. . . . Claims for more than $250,000 passed through the claiming box at Tropical Park during the first half of the current race meeting. Those horses must be expensive as hamburger.

Use Of Provisional Officials Okayed

Harrisburg, Dec. 29 (P)—The use of provisional officials to officiate only in junior varsity games had the approval today of the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic association.

The association's board of control adopted a resolution permitting use of the officials at its annual meeting here yesterday. The board defined provisional officials as those making within 12 points of the passing grade at a regular PIAA examination.

The board re-elected C. L. Walsh, of Pittsburgh, as president, and re-named Ira C. Gross, Johnstown, vice president, and W. E. Griffith, Somerset, treasurer.

A uniform plan of informing district committees of new rules interpretations also was adopted by the board. The board previously had no fixed method of announcing such actions. Under the new plan, the board will send to district committees copies of all its decisions in rules disputes.

Rhododendrons and azaleas both belong to the same genus of plants.

Pasadena, Calif., Dec. 29 (P)—In the absence of any major development, today's Rose Bowl conjecture centered on a right arm. It belongs to Quarterback Don Burson, who is not only Northwestern university's best but practically only worthwhile passer. The arm, which accounted for 33 completions out of 80 throws for a not-so-sensational gain of 493 yards this fall, is sore.

New Orleans, Dec. 29 (P)—Louisiana State university boxers won five of eight bouts to defeat Michigan State mittmen by three points in the Sugar Bowl collegiate boxing show here. The Bengals from LSU piled up 5½ points to Michigan's 2½. One bout ended in a draw.

New Orleans, Dec. 29 (P)—The three-day Sugar Bowl tennis tournament got off to a bad start at the New Orleans Country club with all but one first-round match rained out and forecasts of more rain today. Earl Cochell of San Francisco, Calif., second-seeded, defeated Louisiana State singles champion Ed Davis of Baton Rouge, 6-3, 6-0 in the lone match played yesterday.

LYNCH HEADS SHIPPENSBURG HIGH CAGERS

Shippensburg, Dec. 29 — Hopes of the Shippensburg high cage team in making its presence felt in the South Penn conference rest largely on the shoulders of Lee Lynch, high scoring center.

Lynch was the individual high scorer in the conference last year and appears to have lost none of his technique for scoring. He tabbed 26 points Wednesday evening when the Greyhounds dumped Scotland, 43-29. The lanky six-foot two-inch lad is expected to be the spearhead of the Shippensburg attack throughout the season.

Coach John Bay has eight veterans on his squad to give the Greyhounds their brightest hopes in many seasons.

In addition to Lynch the veterans are: Jacque Angle and Fred Bolton, guards; Gale; McBeth, George Vandrew, Bill Beckenbaugh, Dick Bennett and James Reath, forwards. Dick Alpaugh, up from last year's jayvees, appears to be the most promising of the newcomers.

The Greyhounds have won three of five games to date.

28 PA. GROUPS PLAN MEETINGS

The Society of Farm Women of Pennsylvania opens its annual meeting Monday, January 10, with a study of Pennsylvania Dutch dialect and folklore.

Another farm group, the Pennsylvania Flying Farmers association with about 150 members, will meet January 13 at the Harrisburg State airport. Demonstrations will be conducted in the practical use of planes in plant disease and control.

LIFT OPERATOR HELD IN DEATH

Fikesville, Md., Dec. 29 (P)—The operator of a water-tunnel lift was charged with manslaughter last night in the death of one tunnel worker and injury of six others.

Paul Beverly, 38, of South Baltimore, was arrested just before midnight and released after posting $500 bond. The hearing will be set later. The warrant accused him of operating the lift "in a grossly negligent manner."

David Yourison, 40, of Sykesville, Md., died of internal injuries and a broken back shortly after a lift carrying Yourison and seven other men plummeted 80 feet to the rocky bottom of the city's new Patapsco river tunnel near Randallstown.

A state police report of the mishap said a friction lever on the hoist ment said there are prospects for an even greater production next year. Farmers indicated in a survey they will breed 88,000 sows for spring farrowing. This compares with 79,000 bred for 1948 in the spring and 73,000 bred in the fall.

was released in some unknown manner, making it impossible to stop the lift with the brake.

William Culvard, 30, managed to grab a plank on the side of the shaft and climb to the top to summon help. A lifting bucket was lowered into the shaft and the men brought up one at a time.

The condition of three of the six injured men was reported serious.

Out Of The Past

From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg Times

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Santa Pays Visit to Gettysburg: Two Santa Clauses in full regalia held forth at the municipal Christmas tree celebration in center square the night before Christmas for children between the ages of five and eight years.

It was the first municipal Christmas celebration Gettysburg has had in five years.

The Rotary club sponsored the movement and its members dispensed with their regular weekly luncheon and gathered around the eight Christmas trees instead to participate in the fun. Included in the program was the telling of Christmas stories by the Rev. Harry Daniels.

Are Married Here: Robert Bruce Wetzel and Miss Alice Mildred Munshour, both of this county, were married Friday by the Rev. Dr. David T. Koser at his home here.

Will Work in Florida: John S. Rice, of Gettysburg, left this morning for Tampa, Florida, where he has secured a position in an orange grove. He was formerly connected with the Rice Produce company, of Biglerville.

Charles Hemler Weds York Girl: Charles Hemler, son of Mrs. George Hemler, Carlisle street, and Miss Helen Winand, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Winand, of York, were married this morning at 8 o'clock, at a nuptial mass in St. Mary's church, in York, the Rev. Father Beckel officiating. Relatives and close friends were in attendance.

The bride was attended by Miss Caroline Bricker as maid of honor. Mr. Hemler had William Thomas as best man.

Entertains for Friend: Miss Dorothy Rummel, East Middle street, entertained at dinner Friday evening in honor of Miss Edith Smiley, who on Tuesday will enter the Methodist hospital, Philadelphia, to become a nurse.

Fields-Fleshman: David A. Fleshman, of Gettysburg, and Miss Lillian Fields, of Salisbury, Maryland, were married at a nuptial mass this morning at St. Francis Xavier church, the Rev. Father Mark E. Stock officiating. Charles Rosensteel and Miss Catherine Flemming were the attendants.

Record Bonus Given Workers: Approximately $20,000 was paid to employees of the three local furniture factories on Saturday.

The money was distributed in the form of Christmas checks, one of which was received by each of the 600 employees of the company. This was the largest total amount paid since the bonus system has been in effect at the local factories, it was stated by M. C. Jones, general manager.

Kroushour-Brandt: Edna Myrtle Kroushour, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Kroushour, of McKnightstown, and Clarence Ellwood Brandt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey C. Brandt, Garrett, Somerset county, were married Sunday at the home of the Rev. Dr. T. Koser, Gettysburg.

Reinecker-Peters: Charles D. Reinecker, of York Springs, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Reinecker, and Edna F. Peters, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Peters, of Aspers, were married at the home of the bride on Saturday, December 22. The ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. I. Kauffman.

Governor's Dance at Country Club: The annual Governor's Dance was given at the Quaker Valley Country club Thursday night when members of the club were guests of the board of governors.

Preceding the dance, Mr. and Mrs. William C. Tyson entertained a group of the members at dinner at their home opposite the club house. Mr. and Mrs. Grover C. Myers also had a number of guests at dinner at their home.

Our entire success in life is regulated, and the route set, in accordance with the objective that we are after. If this is clearly arranged in the mind, then the way is plain. Then, with "one increasing purpose," and with the will to win, that objective will grow brighter and more definite as time goes on.

No two individuals' objectives are the same. There may be a similarity, in the same manner as individuals are much alike—but it's the pursuit and the unfolding, and the finality of the objective that establishes the worth or greatness of an individual. The difference between Napoleon and his humblest soldier. And who is to know, or judge, as to whose philosophy of life is the greater?

There is the popular notion that the man who accumulates great wealth is a huge success. He may, within himself, be as great a failure. You may recall the story of the widow's mites, in which she contributed all that she had. That is giving. That is genuine sacrifice.

I recently entertained for an evening a brilliant young naval officer from an outstanding family in New Orleans. He entered the navy for a spell to think things over. Well educated, he was not troubled about a financial success in life. What engaged his thought was an objective in life that would bring to him the most individual satisfaction and the greatest personal worth to society.

The idea of wealth never troubled Thomas A. Edison. He could easily have been the richest man in the world, but his only desire was to be constantly creative, to benefit mankind. Never will that greatness grow dull. Year by year it will grow in luster. In more ways than one did he give light to the world. And as much may be said of thousands of others whose objectives were far ahead of themselves as individuals.

All the wealth in the world could not purchase the influence of a Jesus or a Gandhi! Said Tennyson: "Kind hearts are more than coronets, and simple faith than Norman blood." To be creative, helpful, and useful—even to be a successful friend—are objectives for which any of us may well strive in order to be worthily triumphant in life.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Please."

LIFE'S MAGIC
There are so many things to do,
So much of charm to see,
That one who lives a full day through Contented ought to be.

The spring, the summer and the fall,
And winter with the snow,
Have pictures which, to one and all,
Without a fee they show.

Who from his doorway ventures out
Has magic to amaze,
And mystery everywhere about
At which to stand and gaze.

So much to see, so much to do,
I wonder how and why
Man ever walks a street or two
And keeps a downcast eye.

TAKES 'OLD JOE' APART AND FINDS 'DEDICATED RED'

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Dec. 29 (P) — Just what kind of man is Joseph Stalin, and what does he really think and want?

Is he a kindly, pipesmoking, good old Joe? Or is he the cold and crafty brain behind everything Soviet Russia does?

He's talked to outsiders just a few times, in interviews. Every time he did, and sounded at all friendly, this question arose:

Did he mean it? Or was that just a shift in tactics or a little propaganda to blind the world to his real intentions?

Check Available Facts
Although his talks with foreigners have been few, there's one way of finding out what he's really shooting at:

That's by checking with utmost care everything he's written since becoming a top man in Russia's Communist party. That's been done now—in the magazine "Foreign Affairs"—by a writer who uses only the pen name "Historicus." (Time magazine says that, "according to Washington gossip," Historicus is George A. Morgan, first secretary in the U.S. embassy in Moscow.)

Historicus has carefully checked everything Stalin has written since 1919 and summed it up in a long study, "Stalin On Revolution."

Many experts on Russia share this view of Stalin which Historicus has pieced together:

Stalin has dedicated his life to victory for Communism throughout the world. That's his goal. It never changes.

So when Stalin talks of peaceful cooperation with a capitalist country like ours, he's just shifting tactics. His real goal is unchanged.

Any agreement Stalin makes with a capitalist country must be only a temporary thing.

Can't a capitalist state like this and a Communist state like Russia live side by side peacefully and indefinitely?

Stalin, like Lenin before him, considers that "unthinkable." One of Stalin's favorite quotations from Lenin is this: "In the end, either one or the other will conquer. Until that end comes, a series of terrible collisions between the Soviet Republic and the bourgeois states is inevitable."

Stalin figures Russia needs another 15 or 20 years to gather strength for the final showdown. But even in those years Communism and its leaders must grab every opportunity to spread and create the opportunity for spreading.

So long as Russia stands strong, Communism everywhere will have a base, a starting point, a sense of direction, and help. And eventually, in Stalin's view—a force ready to step in and topple the last capitalist states.

GI INSURANCE TO PAY DIVIDENDS

Washington, Dec. 29 (P)—Dividends ranging from a few cents to several hundred dollars will be paid out in 1949 to veterans who took out National Service life insurance. The veterans administration said in announcing this that 16,000,000 veterans may share in the payments. Unofficial estimates of the size of the surplus fund, from which the dividends will be paid, range from $1,500,000,000 to $2,000,000,000.

Officials said that veterans who took out the minimum $1,000 policy and held it a short time will receive only a small dividend. But the GI's who got into the program early and for the maximum amount of $10,000 probably will receive up to several hundred dollars.

The VA plans to make refunds on all policies on which premiums were paid for three or more months. This includes policies that have lapsed or matured, as well as those now in force.

The first policies were effective October 8, 1940. The dividends will cover the period through the 1948 anniversary.

Officials said they doubted if payments will start before next August.

Stunt Flyer Dies In Plane Crash

Pottstown, Pa., Dec. 29 (P)—Wesley B. Nyce, 36-year-old nationally known stunt flyer, died in the crash of a plane in which he was practicing a new stunt for the National Air Races at Miami, Fla., Saturday.

Nyce's ship, an AT-6 army surplus plane, plunged onto Pottstown airport yesterday as Mrs. Betty Nyce, his widow, looked on.

Nyce, one of four stunt flyers in the nation invited to perform at the Miami event, was thrown clear of the wreckage but was killed instantly.

Mrs. Nyce a few minutes earlier had been taking motion pictures of the flyer in action. She and two small children survive.

NEW PREMIER URGES UNITY

Cairo, Egypt, Dec. 29 (P)—A new premier took over today the reins of government dropped by the assassinated Mahmoud Fahmy Nokrashy Pasha. He urged Egyptian unity for the struggle in Palestine.

The new premier is Ibrahim Abdel Hadi Pasha, who was chief of the royal cabinet. He is expected to carry out Egypt's policy toward Israel much as Nokrashy Pasha would have done. The cabinet was readjusted.

Hadi Pasha is a middle aged lawyer who has held both parliamentary and ministerial positions. He was sentenced to death as a youth for his revolutionary political beliefs, but was released under a political amnesty in 1924. He helped Nokrashy Pasha form the Saadist party, now dominant in the chamber of deputies, after a split of the Wafdist party in 1937.

King Farouk made the appointment.

Nokrashy Pasha was shot to death at his office yesterday by a Fuaad university student who disguised himself in a second hand police uniform to gain admittance. The student was arrested. Police said he was Abdel Hamid Hassen, 21, a member of the Nationalist Moslem Brotherhood which Nokrashy Pasha outlawed less than three weeks ago.

Egypt planned a military funeral today for Nokrashy Pasha. He will be buried at the Mausoleum of Abassieh, where rests his predecessor, Ahmed Maher Pasha. Maher Pasha was shot and killed by a pro-German, a few minutes after he read Egypt's declaration of war on the Axis February 24, 1945.

Snow Removal To Cost $7,000,000
Harrisburg, Dec. 29 (P)—It will cost the state an estimated $7,000,000 to keep its 41,000 miles of highways open to winter traffic. Warren K. Myers, chief maintenance engineer for the state highways department, said that snow removal has become the department's most expensive maintenance item.

Myers emphasized that increasing demands of the public for clear roads during even the worst weather has made snow removal a year-round planning job.

Citing the extent of the state's snow removal program, Myers said that during a storm of statewide proportions, some 1,500 trucks equipped with snow plows, 300 power graders, 200 tractors and 4,000 men are put into service at a cost of $12,000 an hour.

200 PAGES OF FIGURES SHOW SUN'S DISTANCE

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

(Associated Press Science Editor)
New Haven, Conn., Dec. 29 (P) — Take a look at the new moon and see for yourself just how far you are from the sun.

This way of measuring the sun's distance was reported to the American Astronomical society today by Prof. Dirk Brouwer, of Yale university.

It comes out that the sun is a cozy forty thousand miles nearer than believed. New distance, 92,960,000 miles.

Here's The Trick
The trick is to measure the slow-down in movement of the new moon as it comes around the earth's edge right after New Year's. It is then moving away from the sun, which is on the opposite side of the world.

The moon slows like a dog on a leash. The celestial leash is the sun's gravitational pull. By the time the queen of the night is half full she will be 133 miles short of the place in the sky where she ought to be.

That distance can be seen with the naked eye, even at 240,000 miles. It is one-fiftieth of the moon's apparent diameter.

200 Pages Of Figures
After full moon the night orb makes up the loss by speeding up as she approaches the sun again. The old moon, at half full, is 133 miles ahead of schedule.

You can see the misplacement by comparing the moon with nearby stars. You can calculate the distance to the sun by the gravitational pull shown in the hold-back. This figuring requires but a single equation. The equation covers two hundred pages of a book.

Prof. Brouwer said the new distance comes from more than 5,000 observations, over 11 years and 200 places all over the world. He said there is still an "uncertainty" of about 36,000 miles in this distance. But enough future years of new-moon looking will cut this.

TRUCK DRIVERS DIE IN CRASH

Norristown, Pa., Dec. 29 (P) — Three loaded fuel oil tank trucks collided on an ice covered bridge today, killing two of the drivers.

State police identified the dead as George Morgan, 27, of Sellersville, and Frank Rosenberry, 32, of Ambler. The third driver, William Stover of Telford, escaped injury.

State police said Stover's truck stopped on a bridge in nearby Upper Gwynedd township. Rosenberry, who was behind Stover, attempted to stop his truck but skidded on the icy highway and crashed into Stover's truck and then struck the bridge.

Stover's truck jackknifed across the bridge. Morgan, following behind Rosenberry's truck, went into a skid and struck Rosenberry's truck. State police said Rosenberry was crushed to death in the cab of his truck.

Morgan's truck also jackknifed across the highway, struck the bridge and burst into flames. Morgan was burned to death in the cab. Firemen from North Wales, Center Square and North Ambler battled the blaze for nearly an hour.

Firemen Rescue And Revive Babe

Pottsville, Pa., Dec. 29 (P)—A three-week-old infant was saved from death by alert firemen who scaled a ladder, carried her to safety and then worked over her for 20 minutes with an inhalator.

The infant, Joan Anne Curnow, was trapped in her crib by flames that broke out in the closet of an adjoining room last night. Her mother, who noticed the fire just as she and her six other children were sitting down to dinner, tried to reach the girl but was beaten back by the flames.

Firemen hurried to the scene and saved Joan. She was pronounced in good condition today at good Samaritan hospital.

Fire Chief George Smith said the damage was confined to two upstairs rooms and set the loss at $800. He said there was no indication of what caused the fire.

BUILD ATOMIC POWER UNIT TO PROPEL SHIPS

Pittsburgh, Dec. 29 (AP)—The Westinghouse Electric corporation today undertook a government commission to build the world's first atomic power unit for transportation purposes.

The assignment was handed the company by the Atomic Energy Commission.

Primary goal of the project will be the development of a power plant for the propulsion of U. S. Navy ships by means of a nuclear reaction—a uranium furnace with a function quite similar to ship's firebricks that consume coal or oil.

Matter of Years
Although final terms of the contract between the company and the Chicago office of the commission remain to be determined, Charles H. Weaver, head of Westinghouse's newly-formed atomic power division, said work on the atomic engine would start "within the next few months."

The completion date, however, was a matter of conjecture—"maybe two years, or it might be five or six"—Weaver said.
"Construction of the nuclear reactor," the Westinghouse official said, "marks the beginning of the development of atomic energy in the transportation field. Our efforts, however, will be directed toward putting the reactor in a ship. We're trying to build a ship's power plant that will burn uranium instead of coal or oil."

Not First Non-weapon Use
According to an official of the Atomic Energy Commission in Washington, the ship propulsion project will not be the first non-weapon development of atomic power undertaken. A previously-announced project at Schenectady, N. Y., he said involves the development of a reactor by General Electric for use in the production of commercial electric power.

The official said a number of other development projects are aimed at possible peacetime applications of nuclear fission, but there has been no announcement of any other direct attempt to adapt atomic power for propulsion purposes thus far.

Westinghouse during World War II helped the Manhattan engineer district in processing uranium and making specialized equipment for use in the U-235 separation plants at Oak Ridge, Tenn. Weaver said the Westinghouse project will be carried on in a laboratory in the Pittsburgh area with a force of about 600 men, many of them engineering specialists.

Seniority Rule Is Urged By Teachers

Harrisburg, Dec. 29 (AP)—A legislative committee recommends that seniority be used as a basis in determining reductions of teachers in local school districts.

The recommendation is included in a report by a sub-committee of the joint state government commission working on re-codification of the state's school laws.

Seniority is taken in to account under the current law, the committee noted, in such cases where there is no difference in rating but does not specify whether the rights are to be determined on the basis of service in public schools, generally or in the individual district planning the cut.

The committee recommended that the law be clarified to limit the rights of those "acquired within the school district of current employment."

COUPLE HELD IN KIDNAPING

Harrisburg, Dec. 29 (AP)—Even Santa Claus will be on hand when little Vicki Jeanne Snyder, found safe after a nine-day nationwide search, returns from California to her foster parents.

The three-year-old tot's mother, who is charged by police with kidnaping the child, went yesterday along with her husband to police at Pomona, Calif.

The happy foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Snyder, of Harrisburg, set immediately about planning a delayed Christmas party for the child. Vicki disappeared the evening of December 19 just before she was to attend a Christmas party at her Sunday school.

Mrs. Jeanne M. Bragel, 21, the child's mother, was taken from Pomona after her surrender to Los Angeles county jail and booked on a fugitive warrant sent by police here. Her present husband, John Bragel, 35, of Tacoma, Wash., was booked along with her.

Vicki was turned over to juvenile authorities pending her return here. Harrisburg authorities meanwhile moved quickly to speed the return here of the Bragels to face the kidnaping charges. District Attorney Carl B. Shelley said he had been advised by the Los Angeles sheriff's office that the couple had agreed to waive extradition. The couple was quoted at Los Angeles, however, as saying they would fight extradition.

The word "calumet" is the name the French gave to the Indian peacepipe offered Pere Marquette when he explored the Chicago territory in 1675 — and in that area there remains a river, lake and harbor by that name.

New Oxford.—A turkey dinner with dancing, games and gifts following, was conducted during the holiday season by the R. L. club, a social group of employees of the Livingston shoe company. The site was Helen's Place, north of East Berlin. During the evening the 1949 officers were chosen as follows: President, Clyde Decker; vice president, Wilmer Trone; secretary, Miss Pauline Noel, and treasurer, William McClain, Sr.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Livingston held "open house" on Christmas Eve at their home west of town when a large number of relatives and friends came from this and other sections to sing Christmas carols and partake of refreshment. Many of the out-of-town guests accompanied local visitors to the Christmas carol service at the First Lutheran church at the close of the evening.

Sandra Jane Wolf, six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Wolf, near town, recited a selection entitled "No Time Like the Present" at a program presented on Christmas Eve by the Sunday school of Trinity Lutheran church, East Berlin.

Robert Lemmon, near town, plans to move in the spring to the farm he has purchased near Dubs church.

The choir of the first Lutheran church entered the church on Christmas Eve, bearing lighted candles, to begin their candlelight service of music, entitled "On Earth — Peace." Mrs. J. Felix Sanders, organist, played several Christmas selections, and the choir sang the familiar carols to illustrate Scripture readings by the pastor, the Rev. George E. Sheffer, and a former pastor, the Rev. Dr. George Lauffer. The principal soloist was Miss Anna Jane Bollinger, soprano, whose selection was "O Holy Night."

George Mummert, near Pine Run, is able to be about and attend to his farm duties after a recent confinement to bed caused by a leg injury.

COL. BEAUDRY HERO OF ICE CAP RESCUE OF 12

Washington, Dec. 29 (AP)—The air force proudly counted among its achievements today the daring rescue of 12 marooned airmen from a bleak 7,800-foot Greenland ice cap.

The hero of the new northland saga is 32-year-old Lt. Col. Emil J. Beaudry of Manchester, N. H. He landed his big specially-equipped C-47 transport on the wind-swept cap yesterday and in 38 min. was airborne again with a dozen jubilant passengers.

Long hours later however only the sketchiest details of the dramatic operation were known here.

"Jato" Helped
But before communications out of the frozen northland failed word came through that the rescued men were safe and apparently sound at Blue West Light—an air force base in southwest Greenland.

Seven of the men had been stranded since December 9, when their own C-47 was forced down. Three previous rescue attempts resulted only in adding five more men to the encampment.

But at 9:30 a. m. (EST), yesterday, Col. Beaudry skillfully set his big ship down on the cap. Thirty-eight minutes later the ski-runners transport, assisted by jet take-off power units, roared into the air and headed back to its base 270 miles away.

Carrier Not Needed
News of the feat was cheered aboard the U.S.S. Saipan carrying a navy helicopter rescue team to the area. The 14,500-ton carrier, which

St. Paul's Christian Endeavor society will meet at the church Thursday evening at 8:30 o'clock to go caroling, after which they will return to the church for a party. Herbert Plunkert is in charge of the arrangements.

The Junior choir of Grace Lutheran church, 20 Taverns, held a Christmas party, Monday evening at the home of their director, Miss Evelyn Reaver, North Queen street, Littlestown. The table and rooms were decorated in keeping with the Christmas season. Games were played; refreshments were served and there was an exchange of Christmas gifts. Those in attendance were: Lee Myers, Mervin Weikert, Glenn Myers, Richard Reaver, Jay Waybright, George Helwig, John Navy officials said the Saipan will put into port at Argentina, Newfoundland, before making the return trip to Norfolk.

Yesterday's rescue was the second major northland exploit for Beaudry, who won the Air Medal and Distinguished Flying Cross in World War II as a bomber pilot over Europe.

On December 26, 1947, Beaudry piloted a plane to Dyke's lake in Labrador and picked up nine survivors—seven air force men and two civilians—whose B-17 had been forced down in that barren land three days earlier.

STEEL DEMAND TO TAPER OFF

New York, Dec. 29 (AP)—The tremendous demand for steel will taper off sometime in 1949, Iron Age predicted today.

Then, said the national metal-working weekly, "steel orders will and children, Tom and Becky, R. 2, were guests of Hanover relatives on Christmas Eve.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean E. Oberlander and children, Penny, Michael and Peggy, have moved from the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Oberlander, where they had lived for some time, to the George W. Moul house south of town, recently vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Lynn D. Slothour and son, Lynn, who now live in the John Altland house on York street.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Jacobs entertained these persons on Christmas at their home: Mr. and Mrs. John S. Thoman and daughters, Jacqueline and Sally Ann, Hanover; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph G. Jacobs and daughter, Rebecca; Mrs. Regina Jacobs Zepp; Mr. and Mrs. William Hertz, Jr., and children, Frances, Claire, Paul and Eleanor, Harrisburg; Mrs. Martin L. Slothour and the Misses Anna and Bertha Jacobs. The only members of the immediate family who were not there were Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Jacobs and daughters, Beverly and Bonnie, who spent Christmas with relatives at Bangor, their former home.

resume a trend where they mean something, gray markets will be a thing of the past and conversion deals will be used only to take care of an extra load that must be gotten out."

Iron Age said the industry's ore problem is being dissolved and the shortage of workers no longer is an acute problem.

Concerning ore, the weekly pointed out the United States steel company's recent ore discovery in eastern Venezuela. It said the quality of the Venezuelan ore was excellent and that the amount already proven by U. S. steel runs "into several million tons of high-grade ore." The Venezuelan ore, Iron Age said, will take care of U. S. steel's "supplemental ore needs for years to come."

Steel makers "are beginning to turn a little pessimistic" on the 1949 outlook, Iron Age said. "But their pessimism is relative," the publication added. "It may be the inventory season. Or the soft spots in some consumer lines of steel. Or it may be the realization that bubbles cannot last forever."

READING BUYS CARS

Philadelphia, Dec. 29 (AP)—The purchase of 750 steel hopper cars at an approximate cost of $3,200,000 was authorized yesterday by the Reading company's board of directors. The company said the 50-ton coal cars will be constructed at the Johnstown, Pa., plant of the Bethlehem Steel company. Delivery is scheduled to start next June at the rate of 19 cars per working day.

VETERAN SEEKS TO BRING FIANCE TO THIS COUNTRY

Pittsburgh, Dec. 29 (AP)—Leander swam the Hellespont for his love but an ex-marine apparently has bridged the Atlantic ocean to bring the lady of his choice from her home in Greece to Pittsburgh.

George Nomides, 25-year-old house painter, fell in love with the photograph of Irene Viganos, a resident of Piraeus, Greece, and began a correspondence that led to their plans to wed. The U. S. consul in Athens, however, ruled that Irene was not a "bona fide fiancée" and refused the girl a visa to come to the U. S.

Working against the Friday deadline set by the G. I. sweetheart law, Nomides enlisted the aid of Rep. James Fulton (R-Pa.) who wired the Athens consulate.

The answer was still now so Fulton took his argument to the State Department and yesterday received word that a visa had been granted Irene.

That still left the little matter of how Irene was to come to this country.

Trans-World Airlines said they had closed sales of tickets of the overseas fiancée type on Christmas because they are subject to a $1,000 fine and return passage if they fail to get a fiancée into the country by midnight, December 31.

Friends guaranteed the $1,000 and Irene's return passage. Now all Irene had to do was catch a plane by 3 p. m. (EST) today.

Flavor hard sauce for holiday puddings with molasses and cinnamon, or add a little shredded lemon or orange rind.

The annual meeting of the policyholders of the Mummasburg Mutual Fire Protection Society will be held at the office of the company in Gettysburg, Pa., Saturday evening, January 8th, 1949, between the hours of seven and eight o'clock, for the purpose of electing twelve directors for the ensuing year, and for the transaction of such other business that may properly come before the meeting.

Chapter 9

All the time Barone watched me put the money away like it was maybe his right arm, or a leg, he had given up. Then he licked his a little pad of paper.

"I had better give you the hotel address where he was staying," he said. "It is the . . ."

"The Hotel Green on East Seventeenth," I cut in on him. "I know that. How about places where he hung out when he wasn't at the hotel? And did he have any lady friends?"

I sensed Goldilocks stiffening at my side, but I was all eyes for Barone.

"You know where he was staying?" he asked sharply.

"Why, sure," I tried to cover up fast. "The Rankins mentioned it last night. We were talking about DeFoe and Cardeur. I went out with them later."

Neither Barone nor Parkus believed that one, and I was sore at myself for letting the urge to see him jolted get the better of me.

"But what about his lady friends, if any?" I went on forcing it. "Have you tried them?"

"There are none, Monsieur," Barone said just the way you'd say it if you were thinking of ten other things. "Maurice was not . . . what you call . . . a ladies' man. No, it would be senseless to chercher la femme."

"Okay, I won't," I said solemnly. "But what about you? I mean, how do I get in touch with you, if and when I have something to report?"

"I shall also be searching, of course," he said after a long pause. "So perhaps you will inform Mademoiselle Zaralis of what you find out, eh? I shall also keep in touch with her. That is perfectly agreeable, Zaza?"

The last was to her, and I know something unspoken went along with the look he gave her. The little slick chick nodded, and pressed one knee to mine as she did it.

"But most certainly, Henri!" she exclaimed. "I shall remain here constantly and pray that good news about Maurice will come so very quickly."

Very pretty, very neat, and very, very fast. I almost wondered if they'd rehearsed it a couple of times. Anyway, just like that, Andy and Henri had taken their departure, leaving Goldilocks and me all alone on the couch.

"You know Parrish, don't you?" You would have thought I'd smashed a lot of wet leaves into her pretty little face. She jerked back from me, and spilled a lot of her drink on the rug that had set somebody back two thousand if a dime. She didn't seem to notice. I was the object of her attention. As intensely as I had been of her affection half a shake before.

"You know Gordon Parrish?" she practically spat at me.

A hunch told me it was suddenly very thin ice, so I looked surprised, and put a lot of hurt into it, too.

Chicken a la King is especially good when the cream sauce for it has been flavored with a little finely grated onion.

DUFF URGES LOCAL ACTION FOR TEACHERS

Harrisburg, Dec. 29 (AP)—Pennsylvania's school teachers must concentrate their fight for higher salaries in their home communities, says Gov. James H. Duff.

"The problem of education must be met more and more on a local basis if it is to be met at all," the governor asserted in a speech last night before the Pennsylvania State Education Association.

Duff at the same time urged teachers "to bring influence on local communities" to share education expenses.

Duff praised the 1947 local tax law which permits municipalities to tax anything not already taxed by the state. Describing the act as a measure to "revitalize" democracy, the executive pointed out that local governments are coming more and more to the state for help.

Support Salary Increases

The governor added however, that the state will face the issue of higher to face, and you can depend on teacher salaries "honestly and face

Plan Meters

At a recent meeting of the burgess and Commissioners it was definitely decided to install parking meters in the town. The meters will be definitely on the Square, but how far through the town they will extend is as yet undecided. The blinker in center square will be taken out by the state who controls the routes that pass through town. It is expected that a traffic signal of some sort will be erected on the square. Pedestrians will cross at intersections between postoffice and Crouse's drug store and between Houck's and Mondorff's hotel building. When the program has advanced this far it is planned to remove the meters and plant shrubbery and trees around the square. A free parking space has been made for the town's use and is located above the shoe factory. It is lighted at night and is conveniently located.

The Emmitsburg Baseball association held a meeting last Monday night. It was decided to hold a special meeting on January 30th for election of officers. This is to be a town meeting and all baseball fans are asked to be present. The meeting will be held in firemen's hall at 2 p. m.
